

Registered PROW – Cardigan

An historic registered PROW exists between St Dogmaels and Cardigan 78/23 (Ceredigion) and 87/23 (Pembrokeshire end).

It is shown on OS maps

It's function was to allow mariners to access their vessels' moorings.

It is not pleasant and it is potentially a tidal / flood entrapment route with few escape routes.

This does not mean it does not exist.

If it is to be closed there is due legal process.

The steps are a much safer for walkers between St Dogmaels and Cardigan than the narrow path onto a narrow pavement which Cllr Catrin Miles has managed to get registered as Footpath 78/63 on map attached.
